Nine Prisoners Put to Plea in Superior Court Tuesday—Quillette Among Those Who Plead Not Guilty—Mooseup—Plainfield Church Robbery May Be Tried This Week—Republican Delegates Leave for New Haven—Landlord William G. Clark, 96, Fails to Answer to Charge.

Stanley Lacey, 33, a married man of this city, pleaded not guilty to a charge of attempting to assault a female child, in this city, March 19 of this year, but later, after conference with his counsel, Attorney Charles L. Mrs. Lacey was in court, an infant in her arms, and cried bitterly at times.

Patrick Roche, who on July 22 was sentenced in the town court of Killingly to serve nine months in jail, the sentence imposed on counts of intoxication, breach of the peace and resisting an officer, pleaded guilty to having been intoxicated and to having committed a breach of the peace. He got a sentence of 90 days in the county jail.

Three Years at Inebriate Farm.

Henry C. Knight, Danielson, pleaded guilty to the charge of being a common drunkard, and Judge Reed sentenced him for three years at the state farm for inebriates, at Norwich. The sentence was the first of the kind imposed in the superior court in this city. State Attorney Searls explained to court that Mr. Knight's case is a lamentable one and that he believed, and thought Mr. Knight would agree with him, that a term at the farm will be for the great benefit of Mr. Knight. In imposing sentence Judge Reed said that though the sentence is for three years the state farm authorities may parole or discharge at any time after a period of six months, if in their judgment they deem it wise to take such action.

Decides to Have Counsel.

Joseph Brady, a transient person, entered a plea of not guilty to the charge that he broke into the home of Edwin A. Spaulding in the town of Plainfield on the night of 1915 and took property to the value of $1750. When Brady was asked if he desired counsel and as to whether he had the money to pay for counsel, Brady replied to State Attorney Searls that he had no money nor did he want a lawyer.

"I'll defend my own case," said Brady, "not being able to have the counsel I would want."

Mr. Searls advised against this considering the seriousness of the charge against the accused, but told Brady it was his privilege to defend his rights if he wished. He remained obstinate, but along in the afternoon changed his mind and decided that he would ask the court to assign an attorney to defend him. Mr. Torrey was appointed.

Woman Denies Charges.

William G. Clark, the aged West Woodstock inn keeper, was not in the superior court Tuesday morning to answer to a charge of having violated the liquor laws. Clark, who is 96 years of age, is said to be ill at his home and unable to appear in court.

Not All Suffragists Republicans.

Suffrage leaders here wish it made clear that the suffrage parade held in New Haven coincident with the sessions of the republican state convention is not to be taken as indicating that all of the suffragists of Connecticut are republicans, but as a demonstrative means of indicating that the suffragists wish a woman suffrage equal rights plank in the platform of the republican party in the state. Another parade will be held at the time of the democratic convention.

Putnam's advertising stands about the railroad station are now plastered with the lurid literature of business, setting forth the value of this and that brand of cigarettes, Johnny cakes and a score of other articles that are known the length and breadth of the land.
